

Is your child feeling frustrated, cross or angry?

Do they...?

- Tell you their heart sometimes beats faster
- Get an uncomfortable feeling in their stomach
- Tense their muscles and find it hard to relax
- Have moments of feeling hot or sweaty
- Clench their fists or teeth
- Hit themselves or others
- Get tightness in their chest
- Tremble/shake

It's important that you and your child know these feelings are understandable in the current circumstances and that anger is a normal emotion.

TOP TIPS

- Give them some time and space to calm down.
- When a child is angry their brain shuts down the part which can listen to reason.
- Reassure them that you understand why they are feeling so frustrated.
- Talk and listen without judgment.
- Explain that when in school, they can talk and get support from an adult.
- Trying meditation and breathing techniques together.
- Make a Calming Jar with your child.
- Use a weighted blanket to help them to calm down.
- Divert their attention: try dancing to music, exercising, baking, colouring, taking a shower or a bath.
- Encourage them to write down how they feel.
- You may also feel worried, so remember to seek help and advice if you need it.
